Luna-Sought to Become a Dictator.

Assassination of Aguinaldo His Only Opportunity.

Slayers of the General Have Been Acquitted.

Standards at Manila Lending the Baler Garrison—Gen. Bates Going to the Sulu Islands—Gen. Wheaton to Command Hale's Brigade.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MANILA, July 7, 7:30 p.m.—(By Manila Cable.) The trial at Cabunato of the slayers of Gen. Luna, the Filipino leader, who was assassinated by the guard of Aguinaldo's residence, is ended. The accused were acquitted on the ground of self-defense. The testimony showed there was a conspiracy on the part of Luna and other officers to kill Aguinaldo and make Luna dictator.

Luna's death seems to have strengthened Aguinaldo's leadership for the time. Luna's supporters are now outwardly loyal to Aguinaldo.

REV. MACAULEY'S LETTER.

Writes Some Sensational Statements in re the Philippines.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

BOSTON, July 7.—Rev. Clay Macauley has written a letter to the "Transcript," dated Tokyo, Japan, June 1. Mr. Macauley declares that Admiral Dewey said to him:

"Rather than make a war of conquest on the Filipino people I would take up anchor and sail out of this harbor." Mr. Macauley visited Manila in January in search of health. Of his views then he writes:

"A long time I could not believe that the disastrous recent events were known to the Washington authorities. I was inclined to lay the responsibility for the increasing peril upon the military commander directly in charge. Yet now it seems clear to me that Gen. Otis did this work in the main in literal obedience to his superior; there it was assumed that the whole right and duty concerning the future disposition and control of the Philippine Islands lay in the wishes and will of the United States; that what the Filipinos themselves might wish, and what they were inclined to do, was not to be taken into account in formulating plans for their government."

The writer had a talk with Gen. Otis. "Among other things," Mr. Macauley writes, "Gen. Otis expressed regret that there was not a better knowledge of the situation among the Washington legislators than there seemed to be. And he impressed me deeply by his declaration: 'I was ordered to this post from San Francisco; I did not believe in the annexation of these islands when I came here, nor do I believe in their annexation now.'"

"I had the privilege of a conversation with Admiral Dewey," the writer says, "and gives this version of it: 'Dewey spoke much of his concern over the turn affairs had taken and said that he was 'powerless to act.' Yet in one point in the remarks he made, he wrote President McKinley, whom he met in Washington, regarding the situation, and predicted the outbreak which has since occurred."

LIEUT. FULLER'S ORDERS.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Lieut. Lawson N. Fuller, Ordnance major, U.S. Army, has been ordered to the Philippines as chief ordnance officer in the field of the army operating there.

RECRUITING PROGRESSES.

Not So Fast, However, as if the Examinations Were Less Rigid.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—The work of recruiting men to fill up the regiments in the Philippines has been going on for some time, but it is not so fast as it was at first. New York, the main station in this city and this part of the country being at Third Avenue and Ninth Street, and in charge of Maj. Whitney, who has been detailed from the Sixth Infantry for this service. All recruits from stations roundabout, such as Providence, Bridgeport, Danville and like places, come to this main station for their equipment, except arms.

It is estimated that the quota required is being filled at the rate of from 1000 to 1200 a week. There is not for the extremely rigid physical examination enforced by the War Department. It would be possible to do the work much more rapidly, but the authorities at Washington, on account of the climatic and other conditions which these troops will have to face, insist on the regulation physical requirements being filled to the letter. As an instance, at this main station about eighteen men a day are being enlisted, but with modifications in the physical requirements this number could be easily increased to thirty.

Thursday a company of sixty was sent to San Francisco to be forwarded to Manila, and from now on men will be sent forward as rapidly as possible. While recruiting stations have been opened at various points throughout all the Eastern States, the large majority of men required are being furnished by New York and Pennsylvania. Most of these will go to the infantry, although for all the other arms of the service men are being recruited as well. No particular instructions have been received from Washington lately, except to get all the infantry recruits possible up to July 10, and this is taken to mean that on that date the recruiting for the volunteer force is likely to begin. More men than the dispatches indicated will probably be required. It is known that not so many volunteers at Manila can be counted on for re-enlistment as was previously supposed. At first Gen. Otis thought he could make up three regiments from those willing to re-enlist from the volunteer forces to be returned home, but later information developed the fact that he has organized only two skeleton regiments, and the term skeleton in some quarters is taken to mean that only the skeleton and a few of the men have consented to remain.

It is not believed that the authorities at Washington will agree to Gen. Otis's plan of filling the ranks of the regiments with friendly natives, as too little is known of the characteristics of the natives to guarantee the success of such a scheme.

EQUIPPED AS REGULARS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The ten regiments of volunteers will be equipped throughout as are the regulars. The ordnance department has on hand a sufficient supply of Krag-Jorgensen rifles and other arms to equip the regiments.

MUSTERING-OUT OFFICERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Lieut. Col. Stephen P. Jocelyn of the Twenty-first United States Infantry has been appointed chief mustering officer here for California volunteers returning from the Philippines.

TO WELCOME VOLUNTEERS.

Gov. Gage and Native Sons Will Greet the Oregonians.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—All arrangements for the reception of the Oregon volunteers on their return from Manila have been made. A committee of the Oregonians will meet them in company with Gov. Gage, Adj. Gen. W. H. Seaman, Gen. Warfield and Mayor Phelan. The Governor of Oregon will not be here to meet the Oregon boys, as he will not leave Portland until the news of the arrival of the transports has been telegraphed.

It has not yet been decided whether to send the men on from San Francisco by rail or by the regular steamers of California, or by the vessels that bring them here from Manila.

DIED FOR LOVE

Unhappy Fate of an American Girl.

Helen Moffett Takes Poison in a Geneva Boarding-house.

Had Pinned Her Affections on Composer Leoncavallo.

Said She Met Him in Paris, but He Telegraphed That He Never Heard of Her—Large Sum of Money Found in Her Room.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The World's Geneva special says that a young American, who gave her name as Miss Helen Moffett, committed suicide here yesterday in a small boarding-house, where she arrived a week ago. She said she came from Florence, Italy. Miss Moffett looked despondent and nervous. All she was willing to say about herself was that she was from Philadelphia, an orphan, and a student of singing.

One afternoon the landlady went up to the room occupied by the American girl. She found her weeping. On the table was a picture of Leoncavallo, the famous composer of "Il Pagliacci," and other operas. The girl said she had met the musician socially in Paris, and had been violently in love with him ever since. Yesterday she again remained in her room without even opening the door to the maid who brought her meals. Toward nightfall Miss Moffett was found sitting before a table with her arms and head resting on it. She was unconscious. A small bottle of poison, half-full, was on a chair within reach. Miss Moffett died within half an hour.

Leoncavallo has just answered a telegram of inquiry by wiring back: "Never heard of such a girl."

And yet, several portraits of Leoncavallo were on Miss Moffett's table. On one the following was written in pencil: "This is just the way your eyes looked down at me when we first met in Paris, dear heart."

A large sum of money was found in the girl's room. It is doubted that her name was Moffett.

THAT RAILROAD COMPACT.

President Callaway of the New York Central Denies It.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—Concerning the report that the New York Central system and the Pennsylvania Railway system were to be merged, D. R. Callaway, president of the New York Central, today issued this statement: "There is no truth in the report. Mr. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania company, was not present at any meeting of the New York Central board of directors. His presence in the city at the time the New York Central directors met to ratify the Boston and Albany lease was simply a coincidence."

Cassatt of the Pennsylvania Railroad, today denied the published statement that the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroad had entered a compact in which the two systems had practically become one. To a reporter of the Associated Press, he said: "There has never been any thought of consolidating the two systems." The official denied the statement that Vanderbilt is the largest stockholder in the Pennsylvania Railroad.

THE BLOODGOOD DIVORCE

DECREE WAS GIVEN BY COURTS OF BISMARCK, N. D.

Application Denied at New York the Referee Refusing to Blacken Defendant's Character by Recommending Decree on the Testimony Offered.

NEW YORK, July 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to an announcement made today, William D. Bloodgood has been given a decree of divorce from his wife, Katherine Bloodgood, the well-known singer, by the courts of Bismarck, N. D. The announcement created a genuine surprise among those who know the couple and have followed their fortunes, for it was not known that an action was pending.

None of the facts connected with the suit were made public, but it is believed the action was taken as the result of a mutual agreement, and that there was no opposition. Early this year Bloodgood, who objected to the attention which his wife received, tried to obtain a divorce here, but the courts denied his application. The action in that suit was taken by Referee Theodore F. Hascall, and in his report he declared that he must refuse to blacken the woman's character by recommending a decree on the testimony offered.

Both are out of the city, she at Cape May Point, N. J., and he on a business trip. The couple were married at San Diego, June 5, 1898. She possessed a beautiful voice and came to New York to appear in concert. Later she engaged to sing professionally, and is said to have been paid the highest salary of any choir singer in New York.

SOUTH AFRICAN FORCES.

Balfour Answers a Question About Organization.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LONDON, July 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] In the House of Commons today, Sir William Chamberlain, Liberal leader in the House, asked the government leader, A. J. Balfour, if he had any statement to make on the apparently official communication published in the Times today giving the names of a number of officers said to have been ordered to proceed to South Africa for the purpose of organizing the residents, as well as the police and local forces at various points on the frontier.

Balfour replied that he was not aware that it was an official communication. He added that he was, however, in a position to say that the government, necessitated a material increase in the forces now in South Africa. He added: "We, however, think it necessary, under the existing circumstances, to take such steps as may bring the present force up to the proper standard of efficiency, and to call upon the residents to have been extraordinarily wanting in the most obvious duties if it was not prepared for any emergency."

Mrs. McKinley Improving.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Mrs. McKinley was considerably improved today, and during the afternoon went out for a half-hour's drive with the President.

NEW YORK, July 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. O. Lippincott is at the Broadway Central. Mrs. E. McCrugh and Miss M. McCrugh of San Diego are at the Rivers.

Several washouts are reported along the Santa Fe. The Chicago, Kansas and Western is also reported to be delayed. The Southern Kansas passenger from Kansas City is not expected today. Several miles of track beyond Chanute is under water, and a couple of washouts are reported as a result of the Neosho overflow.

WYRICK'S REPORT.

Chief Line Repairer Tells of Conditions in Flooded Districts.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—A special to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch from Dallas, Tex., says M. B. Wyrick, chief of the line repairers of the Postal service, who was sent out from Dallas on Wednesday to Sealey, reported to headquarters at 11 o'clock today. He had to pick his way from Smithville to Sealey, sixty-six miles, on railroad construction tracks that could not travel faster than five miles an hour. The trains can get no further than Sealey, which is at the northern edge of the main flood district.

Wyrick says the Brazos River at Sealey has fallen eight inches in the last twenty-four hours; that while the highest estimate of the loss of life by the flood may have been somewhat exaggerated, still the number is large and cannot be definitely known for several days as everything is in a state of demoralization and confusion.

On the Dewey side of the Brazos, four miles from Sealey one and one-half miles of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad track is completely washed away, five miles more is under water and in such a condition as to make it probable that a party of rebuilding will be necessary. The Dewey Railway bridge is twisted badly, and even if it withstands the flood it will be in such a dangerous condition as to be useless. Mr. Wyrick says it is useless to attempt to describe the condition of the country. It is simply awful. Relief measures are now under good way, but hundreds of persons are still to be reached and rescued from positions of peril in the bottoms.

NEVER SUCH BEFORE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

RICHMOND, (Tex.) July 7.—Never in the history of Richmond were such scenes witnessed as are depicted today. Business is practically suspended. Many plantations are under water. Many trains except those on the Southern Pacific west have been abandoned. Provisions are running low and unless some are received quickly there will be suffering in a few days. It is believed there will be at least

AWFUL MESS.

All Perishing Together on a Texas Mound.

One Thousand People Dying from Hunger.

Sixty-eight Refugees Brought into Duke-River Still Rising—New Deaths from Drowning—Another Heavy Rain in Kansas.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Austin, Tex., says that Gov. Sayers today received a message from Sealey, over the telephone, saying that 1000 persons who had taken refuge on a mound three miles below there are slowly perishing for the want of food. To add to the horror, the unfortunates are surrounded by poisonous reptiles and skunks.

Huddled together with the human beings are several hundred head of live stock. A number of those on the mound have received bites from the reptiles and skunks and are in a dying condition.

GALVESTON LIFE-SAVERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

GALVESTON (Tex.) July 7.—A special to the Tribune from Duke says the flood situation is more grave today. The river rose two feet during the night and is still rising. The life-savers from Galveston started out soon after daylight and did splendid work. The Galveston crews under Capt. Hutchins, Capt. Haynes, Fred W. Chase and Pilot Joe Woodford brought in sixty-eight refugees last night from the high embankment and the bridge over the Brazos, where the people had to take refuge. Refugees are flocking in from all sides of the river. Four deaths from drowning are reported near there in the last twenty-four hours.

PERSISTENT RESURRECTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GALVESTON, (Tex.) July 7.—The situation in the Brazos Valley is rapidly improving. The river is falling. There is an unconfirmed rumor that five lives were lost last night at Fort Bend county. The report sent out Wednesday from Brookshire that two lives were lost there now appears to be an error. Those who were supposed to have been drowned persist in making their re-appearance.

Relief committees are now well organized. Along the Brazos alone it is estimated that more than 10,000 negroes have lost everything. The loss by drowned horses, mules and cattle is something enormous.

ANOTHER HEAVY RAIN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, July 7.—A special to the Star from Independence, Kan., says that another heavy rain fell all last night and this morning. This section, and the Southern Kansas passenger from Kansas City is not expected today. Several miles of track beyond Chanute is under water, and a couple of washouts are reported as a result of the Neosho overflow.

WHY HE LEFT HOME.

PROF. JAMES McNAUGHTON IS A MARKED MAN.

The School Board of Council Bluffs Caused Him to Resign and Now San Jose People are Investigating Him.

New Principal of the Normal School There is Said to Have Been Accused of Various Disgraceful Doings.

Grain-rate Case Closed—Editorial Association Elects Officers—The Agriculturists—Baker, Coulterville Fire.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, July 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Alumni Investigative Committee of the State Normal School today received three letters from prominent residents of Council Bluffs, Iowa, in answer to inquiries regarding the charges that were preferred against Prof. James McNaughton, a number of years ago, when he was Superintendent of Schools there. The letters seem to substantiate the contentions before made by Prof. McNaughton's opponents that the charges there were never investigated, and that he resigned and left Iowa after the charges against him were filed.

McNaughton came West, and was in charge of the Arizona Normal School at Tempe, from which place he was taken by Gov. Gage and made principal of the big Normal School at San Jose. It was said to be a political deal by which Gage gave a slap to his enemies in San Jose, but the Governor did not take the precaution to verify the record of McNaughton, and when the latter began to brag about his clean sweep he would make of the old teachers in the school, there was an immediate resolve to shew up his record. It was found that he had resigned as superintendent of the Council Bluffs public schools after he had been accused of bringing disreputable female associates to the school; of loaning out money at enormous rates of interest, and of illiteracy and incompetency.

When the charges were brought before the directors of the Normal School they appointed a committee of inquiry, and this committee has just received more letters from Council Bluffs. One is from Lucius Wells, a prominent merchant, who says he was a member of the school board in 1890, and that the schools were in such a demoralized condition that the board demanded McNaughton's resignation. He adds: "He refused to resign, and as a consequence we were forced to make known certain facts which were set forth in the petition which you may remember. McNaughton never made any answer to that petition, but after it was filed, resigned his position."

"I happened to be one of the committee of the board having the matter in charge. After the filing of the petition and after thoroughly investigating, I was satisfied that the charges were true, and that ample evidence had been gotten by those signing the petition to prove every charge. The signers of the petition are all reputable citizens, some of them being among the best men in the country."

Two other letters of similar tenor have been received, and more are expected. It is difficult to see how McNaughton can meet these charges.

VEIL OF MYSTERY.

It Still Surrounds the Scheib-Campbell Poisoning Case.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The veil of mystery which has surrounded the mysterious poisoning of Mrs. Elsie Scheib and Miss Campbell, who were taken violently ill after eating poisoned candy, sent through the mails, has been lifted by the police, and the police profess to have reached the sea regarding the matter. No arrests have been made, and according to the statements of the detectives at work on the case, the probability of any one being placed in the bars, even on suspicion of having sent the poisoned candy, are slim indeed.

The victims have no suspicions, or, if they have, they will not disclose them, and the police have completely exonerated John R. Rathom and his wife from any implication in the case.

BLACKMAIL ALLEGED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The Evening Post publishes an interview with John R. Rathom, in which Rathom declares that blackmail was the motive for the poisoning of Mrs. Elsie Scheib and Miss Campbell.

Rathom says a certain woman's husband called on him last Wednesday, demanding money and other considerations to keep Mrs. Rathom out of the case, as the perpetrator of the crime. The man wanted Mrs. Rathom to sign a paper saying that she had deserted Rathom. She refused to do so, and Rathom also demanded that Mrs. Rathom leave this State. He asserted that he knew where Mrs. Rathom had purchased the arsenic and the candy, and then used the envelope to connect Mrs. Rathom with the crime by pasting it on the box of poisoned candy.

POST STORY DENIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—John R. Rathom tonight stated that he had not talked with a reporter of the Evening Post, and positively denied that he had made the statements attributed to him regarding Scheib and Campbell. He said he was not a party to the case, and he does not accuse Scheib of being implicated in the matter.

Chief of Police Lees is skeptical regarding the case, and is inclined to believe that the candy contained no poison when it passed into the hands of Miss Campbell and Mrs. Scheib. He has intimated that both women may have taken mustard and warm water, which would simulate symptoms of poisoning. Chief Lees has no doubt that arsenic was found in the candy submitted by Prof. Price to an analysis, but he does not ignore the theory that it may have been placed in the box after it had been taken from the Scheib residence.

He admits that there is evidence of a plot against some one chosen to be the victim, but he is inclined to believe that the plot was a failure.

A SILLY PLOT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Referring to the alleged attempt to poison Mrs. Florence Campbell and Mrs. Elsie Scheib, the Call this morning says: "The police have investigated the matter thoroughly, and have found nothing to warrant even a suspicion that an attempt to commit murder was made. There was nothing to indicate that the poisoned candy was sent through the mails nor was there a single fact to show that the women were poisoned. That they were ill there is no question, but that their illness was the result of their own efforts there appears to be ample proof. The fact indicates that the absurd plot was conceived in the Scheib household, for the purpose of assisting Miss Campbell to secure a monopoly of the affections of J. R. Rathom.

"While the police have not established the identity of the person who sent the candy through the mails, they have a moral conviction that it was sent by Miss Campbell to herself, and was not poisoned."

"When it is alleged that Rathom was informed that the crime of poisoning the two women would be condoned if Mrs. Rathom would leave the State and sign a document admitting that she had deserted her husband and was willing that he should accept the law's redress in divorce."

"Meanwhile Mrs. Scheib and Miss Campbell were rapidly recovering from a dose of mustard, which is disagreeable, but not dangerous when taken internally. Rathom refused the bait, and an unenviable notoriety followed for all concerned."

DEADLY COAL OIL.

Believed to Have Caused the Holocaust at Coulterville.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

STOCKTON, July 7.—Fire erased from the map the thriving little town of Coulterville yesterday, shortly after noon. Coulterville, situated in the northwestern part of Mariposa county, had a population in 1890 of over 500, but the population now is about 800.

The fire which swept the town yesterday started in the residence of Mrs. Bogolio, in the business part of the town, and is believed to have been caused by coal oil which had been used in starting a fire in a stove. This was a few minutes before the noon hour. Everything being extremely dry, the house was soon enveloped in flames, which were communicated to the surrounding structures in a very short time. So rapidly did the flames sweep from house to house that in two hours and a half sixty-seven buildings had been burned to the ground. The business portion of the town was a mass of charred and smoking ruins, and but little of the residence portion of the town remained standing.

Though the only fire apparatus in the place was an old-style hand engine, this might have prevented a spread of the flames, but for the wind, which blew heavily from the southwest. Strong efforts were made by citizens to arrest the progress of the flames, but without avail. The flames spread so rapidly that there was barely time to save the stock in some of the stores, and there was no time to save the buildings.

Notwithstanding the severe blow dealt the town by the fire, E. A. Grensell, the telephone agent says there is no destitution and no calls for aid. He expressed the belief that the people could pull through all right, as none were in distress. He placed the loss at $150,000. The insurance, he said, was very light, but the thought rebuilding would be commenced soon.

Under the circumstances, the generous offer of the Sierra Valley Railroad to transport to Coulterville, free of charge, any goods or provisions which it might be desired to send to the town in aid of the destitute or needy, will not be accepted. The heaviest losers are C. B. Rathom, president of the town, Percy Davis, in whose store was located the postoffice; Dezola and Mrs. Canessa, all handling general merchandise.

This is the greatest loss which Coulterville has suffered by fire. It was nearly destroyed on two previous occasions. There is a telegraph station at Coulterville, and the Pacific telephone station was destroyed, thereby cutting off all communication. A temporary telephone connection was made, however, and today the line is in working order.

GROCER'S MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Boyson Died of Hemorrhage or an Anemia.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—A. C. A. Boyson, an aged grocer, was found tonight lying dead in a pool of blood in the rear of his store, on the northeast corner of Sanchez and Twenty-ninth streets. Although Coroner Hill believes that the man died of a hemorrhage of the lungs, Capt. Gillen of the seventeenth-street Police Station, after an investigation, says that Boyson, a former partner of Benson, into custody, pending a further investigation into the manner of the grocer's death, which is involved in the case of the mysterious poisoning of Mrs. Scheib and Miss Campbell. Coroner Hill stated that he shot himself, though there was no indication of a bullet wound in the remains.

ENTERTAINED BY FLORISTS.

Agriculturists Chose Officers, but Cut Short Discussion.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The third day of the convention of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations began today with a consideration of many matters of detail business. The question of the place of meeting next year was left to the Executive Committee.

The Nominating Committee presented their report recommending the following officers for the association for the ensuing year: Dr. Joseph E. Stubbs of Nevada, president; Dr. E. W. Hilgard of California, first vice-president; Gov. J. M. Stone of Mississippi, second vice-president; E. E. Smiley of Wyoming, third vice-president; M. H. Buckingham of Vermont, fourth vice-president; M. A. Scovell of Kentucky, fifth vice-president; E. B. Voorhies of New Jersey, secretary and treasurer; Dr. A. C. True, bibliographer; Dr. H. H. Goodell of Massachusetts, Col. Liggett of Minnesota, J. H. Washburn of Rhode Island and Alexis Cope of Ohio, board of directors and Executive Committee. These officers were unanimously elected.

Dr. William L. Gage, dean of the Agricultural College of Minnesota, read a paper on "Agricultural Education." The Director of the Department of Agriculture spoke of the progress of the study under the Department of Agriculture. Prof. True is in charge of the experiment department, and his work was taken as official information regarding the work and policy of the department. He stated that the feeling in Congress is very favorable toward the experimental work, and that there is a disposition to give the Secretary a lump appropriation for carrying on the work. He stated that the work has been of sufficient importance to demand any special appropriation.

The various sections of the association, on college work, agriculture and chemistry, horticulture and botany, mechanic arts and entomology, held their regular meetings this afternoon, but their discussions were cut short in order that the members might attend the reception given the convention this afternoon by the California State Floral Association, which entertained them in the parlors of the Occidental Hotel.

CLOSING SESSION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The sixteenth annual convention of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists held its closing meeting today. The major portion of the session was devoted to the discussion of food standards. The committee to which the matter had been referred stated that it would report in the near future. L. F. Voorhies of New Jersey, read J. G. Weems of Iowa, read papers on "Insecticides" and "Dairy Reports."

GRAIN-RATE CASE CLOSES.

Judge Morrow Divides the Cost of Taking Testimony.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The grain-rate case was finally closed in the United States Circuit Court today, when Judge W. W. Morrow decided the question as to who should pay the costs of suit in the matter of the injunction applied for by the Southern Pacific Company to restrain the Railroad Commissioners from enforcing the schedule of rates adopted by the commission.

The case dragged along for two years in the Circuit and it is estimated that the costs will foot up in the neighborhood of $75,000. The suit was withdrawn at the suggestion of the recently-elected Railroad Commissioners, with the consent of the railroad company. Then the question of cost sprang up. The railroad people contended that the cost should be borne by the commission. T. L. Ford, the Attorney-General of the State of California, strenuously opposed this plan. Argument from both sides was heard several days ago, and Judge Morrow promised an early decision.

Judge Morrow's opinion was given today. He decided that the railroad should pay its cost for testimony taken in its cause and that the commission should bear its expense in taking testimony for the commission's side of the case.

OIL DEVELOPERS.

New Enterprise Files Articles of Incorporation—Fresno Lands.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk this morning on behalf of a new enterprise to be called the Cygnet Petroleum and Development Company, incorporated with a capital of $150,000, of which $90,000 has been already subscribed.

The new enterprise is formed for the purpose of developing the oil beds in the southern part of this State. The incorporators are the owners of twenty-five places, or four square miles of territory in the Fresno oil belt. It is a field which has been recently developed by large finds of oil wells in the neighborhood of Coalinga. The output from these is said to exceed 60,000 barrels a month. The oil is valued at $1-a barrel, and is immediately available for fuel purposes. Already, the incorporators say, the oil, which is petroleum in its crude state, is being used in the sugar refineries here, and the Santa Fe Railroad is preparing to use it on its locomotives.

A wealthy syndicate of Pennsylvania oil men is already operating to the north of the tract of land occupied by the new company, while the Coalinga beds are to the south. The directors for the first year are J. C. B. Hebbard, I. N. Hyde, Charles J. Hegerty, C. A. Lee and John C. McElroy.

FOUND PILING WOOD.

Cowboy Robber from New Mexico Discovered at Keswick, Cal.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

REDWOOD, July 7.—Chy Marshal O. Fate of Red Bluff and Sheriff Charles Behrens today went to Keswick and arrested Ernest Gentry, wanted at Socorro, N. M., for grand larceny. It is charged that about May 1, Gentry, who was a cowboy, entered a business house and stole $6000 in government securities and a small quantity of coin. Officers have been on his track ever since.

Gentry was found near Keswick, piling wood. He admitted his identity, but stoutly denied the theft. He was taken to jail. He was searched, but nothing was found. He says he came away from Socorro, but refuses to give the reason. He will be taken back to New Mexico for trial.

SHEEPMEN, KEEP OUT.

No Permits Will Be Issued to Government Reservations.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

STOCKTON, July 7.—Congressman De Vries today received a letter from the Interior Department informing him that no permits would be issued to sheepmen allowing them to pasture their stock on the government reservation. The government officials hold that the young trees and undergrowth are injured by the animals, and, believing it would be inconsistent to grant the California sheepmen permission to use the feed while others are

Very Unusual

It is very unusual for a regular physician of good reputation to publicly endorse a proprietary remedy. We have often heard of cases where doctors have secretly prescribed Acker's English Remedy, but it is most gratifying to receive the following voluntary letter from C. F. Smith, M. D., the most successful physician of Olean, N. Y.: "Messrs. W. H. Hooker & Co., New York City: I wish to add my professional testimony to the value of your English Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. I have tried my utmost to give even relief, I have prescribed your remedy, and it has acted almost like a miracle, not only relieving, but permanently curing every one of the patients. I endorse the preparation as one of the most valuable additions to the practice of medicine."

Such a frank endorsement as the above is phenomenal. Coming from so distinguished a member of the medical profession, it carries with it an assurance which the public will be sure to avail themselves of. It is recommendations like this which make it possible to give the broad guarantee that is a part of every sale of Acker's English Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. It must either do all that is claimed for it, or your money will be refunded. Do you know of any other medicine sold on these terms? Do you know of any other medicines which prominent doctors regularly prescribe in their own practice as being better than prescriptions they write themselves? These facts are well worth considering. They are of especial interest to those with sore throats and weak lungs.

Sold at 25c, 50c and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 6d., 3s. 6d., and 5s. 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist for a full refund.

We authorize the above guarantee. W. H. HOOKER & CO., Proprietors, New York.

THE STUFF IN HER.

ALL THE COLUMBIA NEEDS IS

Veteran Skipper Joel Ellsworth Has

Is Going to Defend the America's Cup.

Her Hull the Finest He Ever Saw

lenger Shamrock.

Golf Players.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
NEW YORK, July 7.—Capt. Joel Ellsworth, who steered the Puritan and Mayflower to victory against the Genesta and Galatea, respectively,
says: "The Columbia is a fine boat,
and I'm sure she can beat the Defender in a thirty-mile race, when she is in proper trim?" was asked.

"Judging from Thursday's performance, I should say that the Columbia can beat her from five to eight minutes. From all the reports I have read, I do not find any that she could beat the Defender running free. I understand it now. Both are dedraft boats, and there is no reason why she should go faster free, but depth does not count in the windward
work, for she probably draws more than the Defender."

Asked how he liked the Columbia's hull, Capt. Ellsworth said: "It is the finest I ever saw, especially aft. She leaves the water cleaner than any vessel I've seen, and in smooth water
she makes less fuss under the bow
than in any I've seen."

As to the sail-handling on both yachts, the old expert seemed to favor the Defender. He was quite impatient when the Columbia's jib topsail was not set until more than a minute after dark.

Of Capt. Barr's false start, Capt.
Ellsworth declined to express any opinion, further than to say that as he was not on board the Columbia, it would not be in good taste for him to criticise the maneuvers. There seems to be no doubt in Capt. Ellsworth's mind about the ability of the Columbia to defeat the Defender, and also Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock, when she comes here.

Robert W. Lees, representing C.
Oliver Iselin on behalf of the Columbia, was asked how Mr. Iselin and those on board the winning sloop regarded her sailing.

"Her performance was first-rate,"
said he, "and we are all very much pleased, indeed, with her work. We hope she will do much better when her sails fit better."

WANTS TO FIGHT AT HOME.

Jeffries Would Rather Fight Sharkey in 'Frisco Than Anywhere.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—No sooner had Champion Jim Jeffries landed in this city than local promoters began working to secure the coming fight between Jeffries and Sharkey. The first offer came from Charles Newman in the shape of a certified check for $5000 deposited with a morning paper, as a guarantee of his sincerity in the affair.
Newman, acting solely on his own behalf, offers a purse of $40,000, the contest to be held in this city at the Veladrome, which was built several years ago for holding bicycle races. It has a capacity for 15,000 persons. It is the purpose of the promoter, should he be the successful bidder, to bring off the match during the day time.

Upon the heels of the first bid, came
one from the Glen Park Company, with conditions identical with those made by Newman, viz., a purse of $40,000, the fight to take place some day in September between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. A check for $5000 will be deposited today by the company making the second offer. Jeffries had this to say about fighting in San Francisco:

"California is my home and I would rather fight Tom Sharkey here than on any other spot on earth. I am sincere about this, and if there is any possibility of bringing off the bout in San Francisco, I will do all in my power to encourage it."

FINALS ROWED.

Brilliant Ending to the Henley
Royal Regatta.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 7.—
[By Atlantic Cable.] Contrary to all precedent, the Henley Royal Regatta promises to pass without rain. The last day opened brilliant. Immense crowds were everywhere. Today's events are final. The racing commenced at 12:30 p.m.

In the final heat for the grand challenge cup, the Leander Club beat the London Rowing Club. The Leander crew, with a stroke of forty-one,
to the London crew's forty, were speedily in front, and gradually forged ahead, winning by a length and a quarter, in 7m. 12s.

In the final heat for the victor's challenge cup, four, Balliol College, Oxford, beat New College, Oxford, Bal-liol won by a length, time, 8m. 1s.

In the final heat for the Thames challenge cup, First Trinity beat the Kingston Rowing Club. First Trinity was the quickest in getting away, was a length ahead at Fawley court, and won by two-and-three-quarter lengths;
time, 7m. 25s.

Howell, the American of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, beat Blackstaff of the Vesta Rowing Club in the final heat of the Diamond Challenge of which Howell is the holder. Blackstaff tried to sail off but Howell responded splendidly and cutting his opponent down, went right ahead. Blackstaff hung on until Fawley Court where he stopped. Howell beat Blackstaff in four lengths ahead, in 8m. 6s.

In the final heat of the Wyfold challenge cup, (four), Trinity Hall beat the London Rowing Club. Trinity Hall was off first, rowing thirty-eight strokes to the London crew's thirty-nine. The latter caught Trinity Hall at the top of the island and a terrific struggle ensued. Trinity Hall, however, gradually forged ahead until, at the mile, they were clear of the opposition and they won by two and three-quarter lengths; time, 7m. 57s.

In the final heat for the Ladies' challenge plate, eight, Eton beat Pen-brooke. Eton struck a thirty-nine stroke to Penbrooke's forty, but promptly went in front and was a length ahead at the rectory. At Fawley court, Eton was a length in front and Pembroke drew up, but Eton spurred and won by two lengths and a quarter, in 7m. 20s.

In the final for the Silver Goblets and Nickalls challenge cup (pairs), the Leander Club beat the St. George's Hospital Club. The contest was very narrow, Leander being a length ahead a quarter of a mile from the start. The Leanders continued in the lead easily, and won by a length and a quarter in 8m. 48s.

In the final heat for the Steward's challenge cup (four), Magdalen College, Oxford, beat the favorite Hammonia crew of Hamburg. This was a runaway affair. Although the Germans got away first, and led to the top of the island, bad steering lost them
a lot of ground, and the Magdalen crew, rowing splendidly, won by five lengths; time 7m. 31s.

WESTERNER NOT IN IT.

Two Eastern Men Will Compete for the Golf Championship.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
ON THE ONWENTIA GOLF
COURSE (Lake Forest, Ill.) July 7.—
The golf championship of 1899 will be won by an eastern man.

H. M. Harriman of the Meadow-brook Golf Club of Hempstead, L. I., and the present champion, Findlay S.
Douglass, won the semi-finals in the amateur golf tournament at Onwentsia today, and tomorrow will meet in the deciding struggle for the championship.

It will be a Scotch golfer against a native American. Harriman, who formerly played football and baseball at Princeton, and who won so impressively today from his opponent, Charles B. McDonald, displayed such good form in every phase of the game that tonight many of the golfers who have seen the play of the two men throughout the week, are of the opinion that Douglass will be pressed harder in this game than any time during the present tournament, and will have to be at his best to retain the championship.

The general belief is that the game will not be won by more than two or three holes by either man.

This game, on which depended whether or not a westerner would contest in the finals, proved a lodestone to the enthusiasts who came out to view the final struggle, and an unusually large gallery closely followed the play, both during the morning and afternoon. McDonald's work was a decided disappointment to his friends.

He did well during the first nine holes
of the morning, but coming in he "fell down" badly on his ironwork, losing several holes by poor putting that he should have won or at least halved.

Harriman played consistent golf throughout. His drives all day were longer than McDonald's, though perhaps not enough so as to materially affect the result.

Champion Douglass had an expect-edly hard struggle to win from C. H.
Travis. These two men met last year in the semi-finals. Douglass secured a decisive victory. Today, however, although Douglass finished the first eighteen holes four up, the game was not decided until the thirty-ninth hole had been negotiated. Travis played a beautiful game against the heavy odds,
and, although the champion was dormient five at the thirty-second tee, Travis,
by some of the prettiest approach
shots and pure seen during the tournament, won the next three holes. Douglass halved the thirty-fifth, however,
when the match was over. Douglass, apparently confident in his ability to win out, played carelessly coming in and to this fact was partly due the closeness of the score.

Findlay, Douglass and Travis, who tied for the bronze medal in the final flying round Monday, will play off their tie tomorrow afternoon after the championship game is over. Nine holes will be played, the lowest medal score winning.

O'BRIEN BESTS HAWKINS.

Fast and Game Fight, but a Very Unsatisfactory Spectacle.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—In a fierce battle that went to the limit of twenty-five rounds, the victor over Hawkins of San Francisco at the Broadway Athletic Club tonight. The winner came to the ring as the short-order in a 2-1 betting proposition, and won almost as he pleased. He was never at any time in very serious danger, and had everything his own way after the fifteenth round. Hawkins mired his left hand in the early part of the fight, but even if he had had the free use of it throughout the contest, it is impossible that he could have won, or even secured a draw.

The fight, although fast and game,
was not satisfactory. It was first announced that the men would fight straight Queensberry rules. Then, in the second round, they agreed to break clean, and failed to do so. There was no announcement of the latter agreement until that round, and as a result there was an immense amount of wrangling and confusion. The crowd hissed both men for four or five rounds. White contented himself with rather mild cautioning. The men did about as they pleased. They hit in clinch, and the free arm, and hit at the breakaway.

In the eighteenth round, White took

"I DO MY OWN WORK."

So Says Mrs. Mary Rochette of Linden, New Jersey, in this Letter to Mrs. Pinkham.

"I was bothered with a flow which would be quite annoying at times, and at others would almost stop.

"I used prescriptions given me by my physician, but the same state
of affairs
continued.

"After a time I was taken with a flooding,
that I was obliged to keep my bed.
Finally, in despair, I gave up my doctor, and began taking your medicine, and have certainly been greatly benefited by its use.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has indeed been a friend to me.
"I am now able to do my own work,
thanks to your wonderful medicine. I was as near death I believe as I could be, so weak that my pulse scarcely beat and my heart had almost given out. I could not have stood it one week more,
I am sure. I never thought I would be so grateful to any medicine.

"I shall use my influence with any one suffering as I did, to have them
use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

her condition should secure the sympathetic advice of a woman who under-matters into his own hands, and at every clinch forcibly broke the men.

Even at that they tried to hit one another, both in the clinches and breakaways.

Hawkins was the veteran of the two,
and seemed more shifty on his feet,
but O'Brien kept boring in on him, and seemed to manage to get inside of his punches. They both weighed 133 pounds, but O'Brien was the stronger.
More than 3000 persons saw the contest.

THE SHAMROCK PREPARING.

Sir Thomas Says There is a Lot to Do to Her.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SOUTHAMPTON, July 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Interest in the Sham-rock's trial has been greatly increased by the authenticated report that Emperor William is sending his yacht, Meteor, to participate in the trials expected to take place early next week.

Sir Thomas Lipton said in an interview with a representative of the Associated Press this afternoon: "The Shamrock is preparing as fast as possible, but it is a lot to be done yet.
We must be able to stretch her sails tomorrow evening, and she should be quite ready Tuesday or Wednesday,
but we are not going to unduly hurry
our leave Southampton precipitately."

The trials will be over a measured course. If the Shamrock takes a spin tomorrow she will be escorted by the Erin with a distinguished party and by the Iverna. Mr. Jameson is expected here tonight.

won the championship in doubles last year, will compete, as will also Everett,

Flexible Rubber Dental Plates

Have many advantages over the old thick, cumbersome, ordinary rubber plates, and even
over gold plates, being much lighter and thin-

These plates are flexible, only a trifle thicker than heavy writing paper, fit closer and adhere better to the roof of the mouth. Particles of food and small seeds cannot get under them.
They will last longer, are stronger than any others, and will not break, as they will give first, being flexible. Once tried none other will be desirable. Dr. Schiffman's own process.

Draft of the Arbitration Scheme Submitted to the Delegates Who Sit at the Hague in the Woods.

After a Discussion They Adjourn for Ten Days to Consider Their Government's Text of the Convention.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

THE HAGUE, July 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The third committee sitting this morning at the Huis Ten Bosch discussed the scheme for the mediation and arbitration drawn up by the Committee of Experts. Many of the delegates have only been acquainted with the proposals since yesterday, and they have not had time to consult their governments. Consequently, it has been decided that when the committee adjourns today, it will be until July 17, in order to allow the delegates a week in which to consult their governments and receive final instructions.

The scheme is headed "Draft of convention for the pacific settlement of international conflicts." The first part deals with the maintenance of general peace; the second part with arbitration.

The reporter of the committee explained lengthily the motives which inspired the drafting committee in elaborating the scheme. M. Bourgeois, head of the French delegation, thanked the reporter in warm terms, and congratulated him upon his remarkable exposition. The sitting was then adjourned until July 17.

The review of the troops this morning was attended by the military delegates to the conference, who were specially invited to be present.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

THE HAGUE, July 7.—The proposed convention, without the changes adopted today, is as follows:

Article 1.—With the object of preventing, as far as possible, recourse to force in international relations, the signatory powers agree to use all endeavors to effect by pacific means, settlement of differences which may arise among them.

Article 2.—The signatory powers declare that in cases of serious difference or conflict, they will, before appealing to arms, have recourse, so far as circumstances permit, to the good offices or mediation of one or several friendly powers.

Article 3.—Independently of this, the signatory powers deem it useful that several of the powers not committed to the arbitration scheme shall offer, as far as circumstances permit, their good offices for mediation to the contending states. The right of offering their good offices belongs to powers not committed to the conflict, even during the course of hostilities, which act can never be regarded as an unfriendly act.

Article 4.—The part of the arbitrators in reconciling conflicting claims and appeasing resentment which may have arisen between contending states.

Article 5.—The arbitrators may be stated by one of the contending parties or by the mediator himself that the compromise or basis of an amicable understanding proposed by him has not been accepted.

Article 6.—Good offices and mediation have the exclusive character of counsel, and are devoid of obligatory power.

Article 7.—The acceptance of mediation, unless otherwise stipulated, may have the effect of suspending the obligation of preparing for war. If the acceptance supervenes after the opening of hostilities, it shall not interrupt, except by a convention of contrary tenor, military operations that may be proceeding.

Article 8.—The signatory powers agree in recommending the application of special mediation in the event of interruption of peace between members. Contending States may each choose a power to which they will entrust the mission of entering into a negotiation with a power chosen by the other side with the object of preventing a rupture of pacific relations, or in the event of hostilities, or restoring peace.

Articles 9 to 14 provide for the institution of an international commission of inquiry for the purpose of fact-finding in cases of minor disputes not affecting the vital interest or honor of States, but impossible of settlement by ordinary diplomatic means.

Article 15.—The arbitrators shall be chosen by the signatory powers, and shall be chosen by the signatory powers, and shall be chosen by the signatory powers.

Article 16.—The arbitrators shall be chosen by the signatory powers, and shall be chosen by the signatory powers, and shall be chosen by the signatory powers.

Article 17.—The arbitrators shall be chosen by the signatory powers, and shall be chosen by the signatory powers, and shall be chosen by the signatory powers.

death or resignation of a member of the court the vacancy is to be filled in accordance with the regulations made for the original nomination.

Article 24.—The arbitrators powers who desire to apply to the court for a settlement of differences shall select from the general list a number of arbitrators to be fixed by agreement. They will notify the bureau of their intention of applying to the court, and give the names of the arbitrators they may have selected. In absence of a convention to the contrary, an arbitral tribunal is to be constituted in accordance with the rules of article 31. Arbitrators thus nominated to form an arbitral tribunal for a matter or question will meet on the date fixed for the contending parties.

Article 25.—The tribunal will usually sit at The Hague, but may sit elsewhere by consent of the contending powers.

Article 26.—The powers not signing the convention may apply to the court under the conditions prescribed by the present convention.

Article 27.—The signatory powers may consider it their duty to call attention to the existence of the permanent court to any of their friends between whom a conflict is threatened, which must always be regarded as a tender of good offices.

Article 28.—A permanent council, composed of the diplomatic representatives of the signatory powers residing at The Hague, and the Netherlands Foreign Minister, who will exercise the functions of president, will be constituted at The Hague as soon as possible after the coming into force of the present act. The council will be charged to establish and organize the international bureau, which will remain under its direction and control. The council will notify the powers of the constitution of the court, and arrange its installation, draw up the standing orders and other necessary regulations; will decide on the questions likely to arise in regard to the working of the tribunal; have absolute powers concerning the appointment, suspension or dismissal of arbitrators; will fix the salaries and emoluments and salaries and control the general expenditure. The presence of five members at duly convened meetings will constitute a quorum. Decisions are to be taken by a majority of the votes. The council will address annually to the signatory powers a report on the labors of the court, the working of its administrative services and of its expenditure.

Article 29.—The expenses of the bureau are to be borne by the signatory powers in the proportion fixed by the international bureau of the Universal Postal Union.

Article 30.—The powers who accept arbitration will sign a special act, clearly defining the object of the dispute, as well as the scope of the arbitration. The powers' acts confirm the understanding of the parties, submit in good faith to the arbitration judgment.

Article 31.—Arbitration functions may be conferred upon a single arbitrator or on several arbitrators designated by the parties at their discretion, or chosen from among the members of the permanent court established by the present act. The arbitrators, or chosen from among the members of the permanent court established by the present act, the formation of the arbitral tribunal is to be effected as follows: Each party will appoint two arbitrators, who will choose by common consent one of them to designate a different power, and the choice of a chief arbitrator is to devolve upon them.

Article 32.—When an arbitrator is a sovereign or head of a state, the arbitration procedure depends exclusively on his august decision.

Article 33.—The chief arbitrator is president de jure. When the tribunal does not contain a chief of arbitration, the tribunal may appoint its own president. He may be designated by the contending parties, or, failing in this, by the arbitration tribunal.

Articles 34 to 53 declare the decision of the court is to be read at a public sitting in the presence of the agents or counsel of the contending parties, who shall finally decide the matter at issue, and close the arbitration proceedings.

The concluding clauses relate to the revision of proceedings in the case of the discovery of a new fact, and provide that the arbitrators shall be chosen by a majority vote is to be set forth in writing, giving the full reasons, and to be signed by each member, the majority recording its dissent and signing it.

Articles 54 to 59 declare the decision of the court is to be read at a public sitting in the presence of the agents or counsel of the contending parties, who shall finally decide the matter at issue, and close the arbitration proceedings.

Articles 60 to 65 declare the decision of the court is to be read at a public sitting in the presence of the agents or counsel of the contending parties, who shall finally decide the matter at issue, and close the arbitration proceedings.

Articles 66 to 71 declare the decision of the court is to be read at a public sitting in the presence of the agents or counsel of the contending parties, who shall finally decide the matter at issue, and close the arbitration proceedings.

Articles 72 to 77 declare the decision of the court is to be read at a public sitting in the presence of the agents or counsel of the contending parties, who shall finally decide the matter at issue, and close the arbitration proceedings.

Articles 78 to 83 declare the decision of the court is to be read at a public sitting in the presence of the agents or counsel of the contending parties, who shall finally decide the matter at issue, and close the arbitration proceedings.

Articles 84 to 89 declare the decision of the court is to be read at a public sitting in the presence of the agents or counsel of the contending parties, who shall finally decide the matter at issue, and close the arbitration proceedings.

Articles 90 to 95 declare the decision of the court is to be read at a public sitting in the presence of the agents or counsel of the contending parties, who shall finally decide the matter at issue, and close the arbitration proceedings.

ENORMOUS CLEAN-UP

PACK TRAINS LOADED DOWN WITH KLONDIKE DUST.

From a Half a Million to a Million and a Half Brought to Dawson in the First Half of Last Month.

It is not so Dusty but the Biggest Nuggets Yet Found Have Been Brought Out—Sixty to a Hundred Ounces.

Properties on the Market All Winter Now Being Withdrawn from Sale. Prospectors on Wind River Dying of Scoury.

TACOMA, July 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. L. O. Wilcoxson of Chicago, who arrived today from Dawson, brings authentic news of an enormous clean-up which took place in the Klondike during June. During the first half of June, pack trains arrived at Dawson daily from Bonanza, El Dorado, Hunker and Sulphur creeks, each bringing in $500,000 to $1,500,000 in dust. One big pack train made several trips from Prof. Lippey's claim on El Dorado, which produced over two tons of gold dust.

The largest nugget yet found in the Klondike was discovered during the clean-up. One from claim No. 4, below, on Bonanza Creek, weighed six and one-half ounces, and was valued at $968. Still a larger one, but impregnated with quartz, was found on Gold Hill. It weighed over one hundred and six ounces, and is valued at $1804.

Steamers were leaving Dawson almost daily for St. Michaels, bearing rich Klondikers and their dust. The steamer Robert Kers, leaving Dawson June 20, carried over $3,000,000. Wilcoxson thinks that $5,000,000 and their owners will arrive on the first steamer from St. Michaels.

Coming out, Wilcoxson learned of two important new discoveries, one on Thirty-Mile River, where $2 a pan was found, and the other on Big Salmon, where the winter's dumps averaged $38 a day per man. Wilcoxson goes home, but will return north in August.

Other Dawson arrivals say that the Lower Sulphur and Dominion properties are strengthening in price, and many claims on the market all winter are being withdrawn. The creek to show the most advance in favoritism is Hunker. White Quartz Creek, supposed last fall to be a blank, is coming to the front, and promises to rank with the best.

DYING OF SCOURY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SEATTLE, July 7.—An unconfirmed story comes from Dawson City that several prospectors who have arrived there over the Edmonton route report that a score of miners have died from scurvy at Wind River, a branch of the Peel River, and a number of others are suffering from its dread effects.

They had no list of those who died, but they report the following among the sick: Dr. J. B. Mason, Chicago; W. C. Church, W. M. Brothers, Dr. Martin, dentist, Chicago; Edward Harrison, Dr. Mitchell.

Dr. Martin was camped with two other Chicago men. Both were taken down with scurvy. Martin loaded them on a sled and tried to pull them to Wind City, a distance of seventy-five miles, where he expected to find medicines and fresh supplies. One man died soon after the journey began. Martin took the other man on his back and completed the journey.

The news was brought to Dawson by a party consisting of A. G. McGregor, Dr. Sloan, A. C. Alexander, W. M. Gray, J. W. Snell and Howard McGregor of Huron county, Ontario; Dr. J. B. Brown, and W. C. Church, James A. Ferguson of Chicago; Carl Brown, Meade Beaudette, Oliver Carter and William Pearson of Bay City, Mich.; Fred James, dentist, Fritz Thiele and John Lanolette of Fargo, N. D.

HORTICULTURAL COMMISSION. Quarantine Officer Crow, Turns Down Riverside County.

Inspector Drummond has evidently provided better for horticultural interests than Los Angeles county, in that it has kept practically the same inspectors in office for a number of years, until they have become experts in their business, instead of making the office of inspector a political position.

When the question of the shipment of infected trees from this county came up a few weeks since, the Riverside men knew what they were talking about, and were in a position to corner the Los Angeles county men quite effectively. This is the story of the inspection.

The following chapter of interesting news touching fruit inspection: "A week or so ago the Los Angeles Times wrote up the inspection of the Commissioners and inspectors of that county, concerning the shipment to this county of scale-infested trees. All the officials were interviewed by the paper and each one of them told some story which had for its object the excusing of the derelict officials."

"Among the officials interviewed was Inspector Drummond, who was the man who certified that the 15,000 scale-infested trees shipped James Mills were inspected by him, and were free from pests, and The Times quotes him as follows:

"Inspector Drummond says that one lot of 40,000 of the trees of the same seed-bred was sent to the Fancher Creek nursery in Fresno county. As soon as the Riverside episode occurred the proprietors of the Fancher Creek Nursery were notified of the finding of red scale on stock from the same bed. Alexander Crow, State Quarantine Officer and Entomologist, summoned, and, according to Drummond, his inspection resulted in a clean bill of health for the stock."

"R. P. Cundiff, who hopped onto stock in the above statement of Drummond, and he wrote Mr. Crow, just to find out, and here is that gentleman's letter in full:

"R. P. Cundiff, Esq., Riverside, Cal.: I am in receipt of yours of the 22d inst., with clipping from the Los Angeles Times of the 18th. I am pleased that you sent me the clipping, as I had overlooked it in my paper. I cannot imagine where Inspector Drummond of Los Angeles obtained his information that I had examined the 40,000 orange trees sent to Fresno county, and had given them a clean bill of health. This is not so, as I have not been in Fresno since last December, and as yet no samples of such trees have been submitted to me for inspection. Fresno county has a local Board of Horticulture. Thanking you, I remain, respectfully yours,

"ALEXANDER CROW."

"The clipping referred to in the letter is the same as quoted above."

"If Drummond's other statements are no more reliable than his certificate that those trees were clean, or his statement that Mr. Crow had inspected the 40,000 trees sent to Fresno and pronounced them clean, then Riverside excepts the whole story most emphatically."

UNCLE SAM'S TRADE.

WORLD SHOWS INCREASED AP-
PETITE FOR OUR PRODUCTS.Phenomenal 'Ninety-Eight Not In It
With the Fiscal Year Just Ended.
Europe Takes Less of Our Breadstuffs And Cattle But the Rest of the Universe Is All Right.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—In a study of the details of the exports from the United States during the fiscal year
just ended, the Bureau of Statistics shows that every part of the world has evidenced an increased desire for American products. Europe is the only part of the world which has failed to increase the amount of money paid to us for our products, and this, the bureau says, is due solely to the plentiful supply of breadstuffs in that part of the world in 1898, as compared with 1897, and the consequent decrease in price, paid per bushel. To Asia, to Africa, to South America, to Mexico, to Canada and to the Hawaiian Islands and Oceania, our sales have increased in quantity and value, as compared with the phenomenal year 1898.To British North America the exports in the fiscal year 1899 will be, in round numbers, $90,000,000, against $55,000,000
last year; to Mexico, about $25,000,000,
against $21,205,000 last year; to Cuba,
about $18,000,000, against $8,250,000 last year; to Porto Rico, $2,500,000, against $1,500,000 last year, and to the entire West Indies group, $35,000,000 in round numbers, against $25,000,000 last year.
South America, to which our sales in the past have not shown as rapid an increase as those to other parts of the world, shows a slight gain in 1899, and will reach a total of over $35,000,000 against $32,821,000 last year. To Asia, the exports of the year will be about $47,000,000, against $44,844,000 last year.
China showing an increase of over 33 per cent, and Hongkong about an equal increase, while Japan, which purchased enormous quantities last year of raw cotton and various manufactured goods from us, has somewhat decreased her purchases in those lines,
so that the total to Japan, during the year will show a reduction of over $3-000,000 compared with 1898, but an increase of $3,000,000 compared with 1897.
Oceania shows remarkable gains, the total for the year being likely to exceed $30,000,000, against $21,000,000 last year, and to Africa the exports of the year are in excess of those of any preceding year.The value of exports to the United Kingdom for the year will be more than $25,000,000 below that of last year, while the reduction in the value of our exports to France will be more than $20,000,000; to Belgium about $4,000,000, and to Spain about $2,000,000. This reduction occurs almost entirely in food products, and especially in breadstuffs.
The reduction in value of wheat sent to Europe in eleven months of 1899, compared with the corresponding months of 1898, is, in round numbers, $18,000,000.The United Kingdom has also reduced her purchases of American cattle about $7,000,000 the eleven months of 1899, compared with the corresponding months of 1898, due, it is believed,
largely to an increase in price demanded by the dealers of the United States.

MARCUS DALY TALKS.

Says He's In Copper as Deep as Ever
and Proposes to Stay In.[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] ANACONDA, (Mont.) July 7.—In an interview printed this morning in the Anaconda Standard, Marcus Daly, who has just returned from New York, talked freely about many recent rumors in regard to his alleged retirement from the vast properties that are owned by the Amalgamated Copper Company. This group includes the mines formerly known as the Anaconda group. Said Daly:"I sold, weeks ago, all my Anaconda holdings. I bought Amalgamated Company shares. I own, individually, as much of this stock as any other person. I am not parting with any of my stock. My holdings in Butte and vicinity are larger than ever before.
The Amalgamated Company was organized for the purpose of exploring the Butte copper properties on a scale much larger than any other undertaking of the kind in this country.
"The work of exploration is already started. It will be carried on under my direction. I was not elected president of the company for fun or for ornament or for complicity. I expect to see this vast company complete what it is just beginning. Unless my associated in this company want to put me out, I shall keep right on being the president of the company.
"I have no plans except those that will identify me constantly with Montana as in the past. I don't know where in the world I can be better than here where my friends, my home,
and my interests are, and will continue to be, and I have firm faith that those to whom I commend the purchase of stock in the Amalgamated Copper Company will be satisfied with the result."

Modus Vivendi Fixing Alaskan
Boundary Almost at a Deadlock.[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
LONDON, July 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The officials of the Foreign Office were shown today the dispatch of the Associated Press from Washington on Thursday, saying there was almost a deadlock over the modus vivendi fixing the Alaskan boundary, neither side being willing to accept the provisional line proposed by the other.The officials confirm the contents of the dispatch, acknowledging the situation is grave, and say the present outlook is more unsatisfactory than at any time since February. This is keenly regretted at the Foreign Office,
as it had been thought the negotiations were in a very fair status.It has been learned by representatives of the Associated Press that United States Ambassador Choate received this morning important dispatches from Washington regarding

SAME OLD STORY.

Mortimer C. Rankin, chairman of the Populist National Committee, has given out an interview at Terre Haute, Ind., devoted principally to a discussion of the question whether the Populists will fuse with the Democrats in the national campaign of 1900. Mr. Rankin "views with alarm" and "repudiates with scorn" the intimation that such a coalition may be formed. Mr. Rankin declares that such an alliance will be impossible, for the reason that the Populists will hold their convention one month prior to either the Republican or the Democratic convention. The Populists, he declares, "will prepare their own platform and nominate their own candidates."

We have heard this sort of talk before. It has a familiar sound, and we all know what it means. This "defiance" of the Populist chairman is simply a bid for a liberal share of the spoils in 1900. Of course there will be fusion between the Populist and the Democratic forces in that campaign. The sinner for office on both sides is too poignant to permit any "middle-of-the-road" nonsense to stand in the way of the hungry hordes "getting together" on some basis before the day for the casting of the ballots arrives. The belligerent attitude of Bro. Rankin deceives nobody. "The fact is fully understood on all sides that he is merely sparring for position. The Pops are not after glory. They are not seeking to uphold anything in the nature of a 'd-d barren idealism.' Not if the court knows herself, and she thinks she does. It is true that, like their inevitable allies, the Democrats, they are animated, inspired, and impelled, by a great principle. But that principle is a yearning for office, and for the spoils which appertain thereto."

As election day approaches—whatever action may have been taken prior thereto by the Democratic and the Populist conventions and leaders—we shall behold, as usual, a drawing together of the forces which are animated by a common purpose—the lust for office. And when the time comes for the actual casting of the ballots, all seeming differences will have been adjusted, and the Demo-Populist fusion will be as complete, and seemingly as harmonious, as ever.

Unless all precedents fail, these things will happen, as they have so often happened in the past. It will indeed "jar" the country if the oft-declared intention of the Pops to keep to the middle of the road should be adhered to. From time immemorial they have regularly entertained an anti-election determination of this kind. But as often, almost, they have fallen down when they were actually "up against" the proposition, and have meekly consented to assist in the election of the Democratic candidates. That history will be repeated in the coming national campaign is more than probable.

The Populists, it seems, "are split on the matter of holding the Philippine Islands." But this will be a matter of exceedingly small moment as compared to the great and paramount problem of spoils. If, as now seems probable, the Democratic National Convention shall declare against the retention of the Philippines, the Populist crowd will "echo them sentiments" as a matter of course, however distasteful they may be, and will vote for the fusion ticket (and the offices) almost to a man.

Mr. Rankin, however, speaks the plain truth when he declares that "if the Democrats fight the policy of the administration in holding the Philippines until a suitable form of government has been formed, they will find themselves snowed under far worse than they were in 1896." Just so. And that is precisely what is going to happen, if present indications count for anything.

AN ENCOURAGING SITUATION.

Latest advices from Manila are to the effect that Dr. Schurman, president of the Philippine Commission, believes that the suppression of Aguinaldo's insurrection means the establishment of peace throughout the archipelago. Dr. Schurman expresses the belief that many of the people in the southern islands "do not openly express themselves in favor of an American protectorate, solely because of their fear of Aguinaldo and his Tagal army."

There is undoubtedly a great deal of truth in this view of the case. President Schurman is not speaking at random. He knows what he is talking about, for he has been over the ground, and has had ample opportunity to observe with care the existing conditions. He has no reason to misrepresent the state of affairs in the islands, in any particular; and, on the other hand, he has every reason to state the situation precisely as it exists, for his reputation and the success of his mission to the Philippines are at stake. It may therefore be regarded as reasonably certain that the crushing of the Aguinaldo rebellion will in effect put an end to the armed resistance to American authority in the Philippines.

Already, the work of establishing home rule within the territory wrested from the rebels, outside the city of Manila, has begun. It is hoped that the establishment of good government and the enforcement of just and righteous laws will prove to be an effective object lesson, which will show to the inhabitants of the Philippines that we are seeking their good, and are not trying to injure them. There can be no reasonable doubt that a large majority of the non-combatants, throughout the entire group of islands, would welcome the extinguishment of Aguinaldo's power and the coming of American rule, if they were not afraid of the former and were sure of the significance and the beneficence of the latter. At all events, it is altogether probable that an opportunity will soon be afforded to test this matter in an effective manner, for the rebellion of Aguinaldo will be a thing of the past within a few months at the longest. Then the real solution of the Philippine problem will begin.

Among other things that the automobile cannot do—it cannot chew a feed box, eat redwood fence boards, kick clapboards off of barns, slip down on a wet pavement, rear up and fall over on the buggy shafts, and paw the ground when it gets hungry. The horse must go and the automobile has got to come.

A Springfield, Mass., man placed his flag at half-mast during the visit of the President to that city, but the Cleveland Plaindealer sees nothing strange in this except that the man had a flag. The copperhead Springfield Republican evidently has at least one loyal follower.

Says the Memphis Commercial Appeal: "The first thing to do with the Philippines is to whip them. We can civilize them subsequently." The campaign is now going on for the subsequently, and Lawton and his merry men will reach there in due time.

The rich can ride in their autos, but thank goodness, the poor can stand on the sidewalk and see 'em scoot. N.B.—This remark does not apply to Los Angeles. We haven't any of the new-fangled machines as yet, but we have 'ops.

Admiral Dewey and Admiral Diederichs have been exchanging letters, which must make the yellow journalists who started the tale regarding an alleged row between these two commanders feel like saying: "Well, I'll be D—D."

Football was a crime in England during the reign of Henry VIII. In some respects the world appears to be going it with the motions of a crawling fish.

WHAT WE ARE AFTER.

James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, in a recent address at the Auditorium, in Chicago, declared that "we want no alliances other than trade alliances with European countries." Continuing, he said:

"No alliances have ever been contemplated. No letters or telegrams referring to alliances have ever passed between our government and any other. Of course, if any government helps us in a time of need we will remember the kindness. There is no reason why we should not be on the best of terms with all the European countries. It is the trade of the world we want. This is a commercial age, when every nation is reaching out to extend its commerce, and it is the commerce of Europe and not its politics that interests us."

England, Germany, and the United States are rivals in the markets of the world. England's doors are open to food products, because England knows her workmen must have cheap food. I think Germany intends to treat the United States right in this regard, too. The Germans are far-seeing, and the present Emperor realizes that, in order to compete with England and the United States, the manufacturers of Germany must have the cheap meats and other food products of the United States. With other countries of Europe, however, we are having more trouble in securing proper treatment for American products.

"The power of the Philippines is a great advantage to American commerce. We have $40,000,000 of trade in that quarter now, and every day will see it grow. The Philippines are extremely rich and will pay all expenses of governing them, including the maintenance of the army. I think the United States has the same duty toward the Philippines as toward Cuba and Porto Rico. The people are half savage and they need civilized rule. Trade is a great civilization. The flow of trade will carry Americans out there with it; they will stay and help civilize the people. The schoolmaster is also required there, and when the people are civilized then we can discuss the question whether or not we shall govern them or leave them to themselves."

"The Philippines will be very productive under American rule. Look how Cuba has improved. The income from Cuba last month was $1,000,000. Cuba will cost us nothing to govern and as soon as the people realize that the fewer soldiers they have to support the more money they will have for internal improvements, they will be good."

It is quite true that the desire to extend our commerce is one of the important considerations which have influenced our course since the war with Spain began. But it is not, and has never been, the principal consideration. The commercial phase of the question in Cuba, in Porto Rico, and in the Philippines, is only an incident of the situation. The war which we declared against Spain had its inception in a patriotic and largely sentimental impulse to relieve a suffering people from oppression, and to supplant injustice with justice. The Philippine trouble grew naturally out of the war with Spain. But commercialism was not the basis of either of these wars.

There is little doubt, however, that these rich islands will pay the entire cost of governing them, after peace shall have been fully restored, with the authority of the United States everywhere recognized and paramount. To make them self-supporting will be one of the tasks of the future. The present problem is the restoration of order, and it must be solved.

THE "FRUITS" OF PEACE.

A cablegram from Berlin, under date of July 5, contains intelligence of especial interest to our fruit-growers and packers in that it shows the impression the products of our orchards are making upon European royalty. The dispatch runs as follows:

"California fruits have won a magnificent victory here. An incident of the recent exposition held in connection with the great meeting of the world's fair to create an unprecedented call for the Golden State's luscious products, and may, perhaps, even exercise a bearing on the international relations of Germany and America. Some days ago the J. H. Flickinger Company of San José, Cal., through agents in Berlin, made an extensive exhibit of their canned fruits. The Empress of Germany visited the exposition and stopped at this booth. She questioned the managers minutely in regard to their method of preparing the fruits and departed without stopping elsewhere."

"An hour later the royal chamberlain returned and gave an extensive order for immediate delivery to the palace. The exhibitors of other nations were green with envy. What makes more impressive the appreciation of the German Empress is the fact that the Queen of England, through her private secretary, and also the Princess of Wales, only a few weeks ago sent an unsolicited testimonial to the J. H. Flickinger Company stating that the California fruits were 'the best they had ever tasted.' Following this the striking action of the greatest housewife in Europe in preferring the Californian product over European stocks has excited world-wide attention to the excellence of the fruits. It has even affected the general tone of the press toward America and may promote a good feeling hitherto lacking."

While not all Americans are wont to kowtow to royalty, even the most stalwart of the great family of Americans must concede that it is worth while to secure the favor of the crowned heads for our products, if only as an advertisement. If California can become, with its fruits, "purveyors to H.R.H., the Prince of Wales," to "H.M., Queen Victoria," to the family of the Emperor of Germany, and to the other monarchs, princes and noblemen of the Old World, they will be given a boom that will be worth more to our producers than many pages of advertisements in all the great religious dailies in the country.

Not the least pleasurable thing about this exploitation is the alleged fact that the excellent quality of our fruits "has effected the general tone of the press toward America, and may promote a good feeling hitherto lacking."

If our fruits can perform the double office of filling the vacant places in the anatomy of royalty, and in restoring the bitterness of the German press toward America to a state of sweetness, the victory will be great indeed, and well may we call the rich and toothsome products of our lusty soil and beatific clime, "The Fruits of Peace."

AN EAGLE-EYED GOVERNOR.

Gov. Rogers of the State of Washington shows us an example of at least one man who reads the signs of the times with the eagle eye of a seer. He says:

"It is idle and useless to talk or work against expansion or the holding of territory conquered by the military branch of the United States government. After seeing the reception tendered to the officers and men of the 10th of October, it is preposterous to talk against expansion. The people simply went wild with enthusiasm over them and they were cheered to the echo and called the heroes of Santiago. Even the mascot goat came in for his share of praise."

The man who thinks for a moment that the mass of the people in this country are in favor of hauling down the American flag and retreating in the face of an enemy with a gun in his hands, knows no more of the temper of Americans than he does of the distance between the stars in the Milky Way. Gov. Rogers is right; the people are with the boys at the front and with the administration at Washington, and let no copperhead think otherwise for a single moment.

W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., seems to be having rather more than his share of adventures and lively old times. First he wedded a California girl, then his country house was burned down (or up) and now his auto has run away with him through the streets of Newport, throwing him and his friend Mr. Kemp out in the dirt, and raising Cain generally. Should Mr. Vanderbilt undertake to manipulate a wheelbarrow the contrary thing would probably rear up and kick William in the ribs with its handles, or drag him over a precipice. The only place of safety for the young millionaire would appear to be lying flat on the ground with his hands holding onto a strong root, or else he might go out to Des Moines, Iowa, and bury himself in a cyclone cage along with the editor of State Register.

Here is an example of patriotism as charming as it is rare, information regarding which comes from Portland, Or.:

"R. J. Hendricks, editor of the Salem Statesman, today tendered the President his resignation as Appraiser of Merchandise at Portland. Hendricks succeeded Gen. O. Summers of the Second Oregon Volunteers when the latter resigned to lead a regiment in the Spanish war, but he now relinquishes the office with the understanding that Gen. Summers is to return to his former position as soon as he is mustered out of the army."

Of course it is a newspaper man who exhibits this example of self-abnegation, as might be expected. There oughtn't to be anything in Oregon too good for R. J. Hendricks of the Salem Statesman.

In all probability the editor of the Minneapolis Times rides a wheel, for he rises up with blood in his eye and says: "Of the same kidney with the creature who mutilates his neighbor's horse or poisons his well, is the sneak who sprinkles tacks or broken glass along a bicycle path." But whatever he rides he has the right idea about the dastardly miscreant who lets the wild wind of a fellow's tire who is seventeen miles from home and hasn't had a mouthful to eat for what seems like an entire week.

A correspondent calls the attention of THE TIMES to the fact that it was not the Chicago Board of Aldermen, but the South Park Commissioners, that attempted to steer the horseless carriages out of the park on the "sout site," and miserably failed in the attempt. Our apologies to the Chicago Board of Aldermen for having made remarks to the contrary. We feel that the board will enjoy this for it is safe to say that never before did it have a chance to accept an apology from anybody.

Regarding the hegira of teachers to this city the San Francisco Chronicle heads a dispatch: "All Roads Lead to Los Angeles." We are glad to know that our metropolitan contemporary has at last found this out. The roads have all been leading in this direction since 1880, and they will continue to point this way after the N.E.A. has adjourned sine die and its members have returned to their several homes filled with blissful memories of "The City of the Angels."

The daughter of the German Ambassador at Paris, Count von Munster, who was stopping with her father at a hotel in Pisa, has been robbed of $50,000, and the thief has fled to America, and the secretary of one of the largest stock brokerage syndicates in Wall street has absconded to Europe with $500,000. In this case the balance of trade would appear to be against this country to the amount of something like $450,000.

An enthusiastic Georgia Popocraat sent Col. Bryan a carload of watermelons the other day to his home at Lincoln, Neb., but neglected to pay the freight. The colonel has declined the freight bill, and also the melons, and if the railroad company hasn't "a good and sufficient guarantee" the corporation is in for a loss. We shudder to think what sort of language the shipper of the Georgia colle instigator is using just about now.

A distinguished foreigner reports that Americans are mercenary to a repulsive degree. The receipts at the box office may be charged with having instigated this report. The "distinguished foreigner" who goes back home from America with a plethora of purse never fails to speak of us as the most intelligent, generous and appreciative people that were ever easily worked.

Uncle Collis didn't want a harbor at San Pedro, but being unable to head off the improvement, he concludes that the harbor is a desirable piece of property, and the people of Southern California have to sit up nights with their shotguns to prevent him from taking it in out of the wet. His latest grab at the harbor is concealed in Mr. Mull's philanthropic proposition that the county present to one Duffy a special privilege for a ferry, one end of which would be controlled by the Southern Pacific. The Supervisors doubtless are aware that the people, who own the harbor, are not overlooking any moves in the game.

Senator Jones—Jones of Arkansas—is to remain as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, despite all rumors and reports to the contrary. It is well for the Democracy to have a cheerful optimist to run a machine that rattles and creaks, even though he also be a prophet who cannot guess right regarding the outcome of an election once in twenty-seven times.

The news comes from Alabama that five negroes were killed down in that State by eating ten large watermelons. The story is not confirmed and we refuse to believe it without documents duly sworn to before a notary public. A colored citizen who cannot eat two watermelons with impunity at one feed is unworthy his race, in addition to being a curiosity.

Liquid air is now being manufactured in New York at a cost of 2 cents a gallon, but the enterprising citizen who is going to do likewise in Los Angeles has not yet pulled himself out of the multitude. If all that is said for it is true, liquid air is exactly what is wanted in every home, shop, office and factory in the world.

In the new army that is about being raised for service in the Philippines each State will have a captain and a first lieutenant. As each State has at least 10,000 men who will want these appointments one doesn't feel much like envying the man his job who has to pick the winners.

Good-Young-Man, an Indian, has been sent to State's prison in Montana for stealing a horse. This shows that we should be most careful about giving our children names that will not make them appear perfectly ridiculous when they grow up and get big enough to lead a horse away from the place where he really ought to be.

The wise philosopher of the Aitchison Globe remarks that: "A man is in love with his wife so long as it doesn't occur to him that he is getting nothing out of his salary but his board and clothes." But he is a hero who stays with it after he wakes up and begins to realize where he is!

Allen W. Thurman of Ohio denies that he is a candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the Democratic ticket. It is evident that Mr. Thurman knows a sinking ship when he sees it waterlogged and rolling in the trough of the sea.

San Francisco has another poisoned candy episode, but it wouldn't have had one, if the woman had refrained from eating the poisoned sweet which reached her through the mail. "Did you notice it?"

John J. Ingalls brands Napoleon as a prince of liars, but Mr. Ingalls is perfectly safe in making this savage assault. Napoleon is dead—in fact, he has been so for several years.

What a joke it would be on somebody if the Democrats who are asking for a Bryan at the next national convention of their party should be given a Stone—of Missouri!

If Aguinaldo isn't dead as reported he at least ought to take in his sign. The dusky dictator hasn't issued a volley from his typewriter for as much as six weeks.

The automo is likewise going to hit the horse doctors a hard blow when it gets here and begins to turn the impatient and tail-switching equine out to grass.

A man in New York offers to cure poverty for $1. Any one desiring to cure the gentleman's complaint may remit by draft, or registered letter.

The question is, will the woman who runs an automo manage to drive on both sides the street at once as she does when steering a horse?

If Col. Bryan "stands where he stood three years ago" the grass must be getting pretty tall in the neighborhood of the colonel.

Col. Henri Waterson insists that he is a Kentucky Democrat, but at the same time he doesn't appear to be working much at it.

The agile grasshopper has appeared in Minnesota and the Populists are encouraged. The outlook for a calamity is all.

Manila appears to have celebrated the glorious Fourth just like any other good American town.

It is low tide for our old friend, Du Paty de Clam.

IN THE GARRET.

In a garret, old and dusty,
With a smell of garments musty,
Is a faded flower, a wedding gown,
A baby's dress, old, torn and brown;
A tiny ring, a fawn curl,
The picture of a little girl.
A toy, dear to small boy's need,
Mossy, a widow's weed,
A rusty arrow, a coat of blood,
A boy's face, with smile so true,
Part of a maiden's bridal veil;
Only these, but they tell a tale.

MORE COURSING.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR FURTHER DEFIANCE OF LAW.

Manager Black Says He Has Had Enough, but Will Help the Dog-owners in the New Scheme.

Tried to Work Santa Monica, but Failed, and Finally Located New Grounds at Montebello.

Black's Pool-sellers and Assistants Will Be There Sunday—County Officials May or May Not Interfere.

"Col." F. D. Black, the doggy coursing magnate, worried by the misdemeanor charges pending against him and his associates, and tired of the uncertainties of a sporting life, has at last made a bluff at throwing up the sponge and abandoning the attempt to run off the ties and finals of the races commenced last Sunday.

At least this is the determination he announced to an apparently disappointed crowd of dog men at the "Coursing" Club poolroom on South Broadway last evening, through the agency of his stalwart henchman, W. R. Taylor. Taylor assured the crowd that everything that could be done within reason had been attempted that the coursing might be continued according to schedule, but that even the sportive citizens of Santa Monica had turned a deaf ear to their entreaties, and that owing to the newspaper notoriety that they had been enjoying during the past few days, Mayor Jones of that city had absolutely refused to allow them to run.

Regarding the other sites that had been suggested, Taylor said that they were not easily accessible, and that Black did not think he could afford to bother further with the matter until the lawsuits now pending had been disposed of. On behalf of Black he offered the dog men the use of the hares left at the park, and also manumittedly offered to send a crew, to whatever place the dog men might select, to sell pools. He said that the Mayor judges and the other members of the coursing business as he says for a summer vacation, is largely open to doubt. The regular pool-sellers and bookies were present at the meeting, and seemed to take a great interest in getting the dog men to continue the games. While Col. Black and "Maj." Taylor left the poolrooms soon after the announcement, the other members of the "staff" remained, and after much talk had been indulged in, and the owners of dogs had been conferred with, it was decided to form a temporary organization for the prosecution of coursing, and to take entries for the event, and have the drawing then and there.

It was very pointedly pointed out that owing to the kindness of Black there would be plenty of hares, like-wise pool sellers, judges, bookies, paper, together with all the other paraphernalia appertaining to the real thing in the coursing line. Also the Colonel, out of the pure kindness of his heart, had been out to Montebello, at the end of the Washington street car line and had secured from the permission to make all necessary arrangements for the coursing match.

This proved such a seductive proposition that a number of dog owners immediately went to the bookies and registered their dogs. After seventeen dogs had been entered, the temporary officers on this rush programme announced that the drawing might as well take place then as ever, and when one man, evidently not on the inside, asked what they were going to do with the dogs that were not entered, he was told that they would be sold to the bookies, and given a few lessons from the popular treatise known as "The Evolution of the Los Angeles Coursing Magnate," by F. D. Black.

One man, who proved very communicative, when told that he was talking to a reporter, shut up like the proverbial clam and it is to be noted that while "Maj." Taylor threatened the termination of the Coursing Club to pay $3 to the winner of each course, none of the money changed hands and the sturdy secretary took a stroll down the street without ever being approached by any of those interested in the disposition of the money. This could not have been because the "Maj." did not know to whom the money belonged, because at the time he made the announcement he also said that he had a list of names with him, and none could not have been because the dog men owning winning dogs were present, as Henry Lim, who was temporary chairman, when the proposition was broached to give the whole lot to Black to help pay attorney's fees, said that he guessed he had as many dogs as anybody on the paying side, and that he would be glad to let them go to a root, and it is hardly possible to believe that this is, as they allege, entirely in the interest of the owners of the dogs.

One thing is sure, and that is that the meet will not be held at the Agricultural Park grounds, for the recent action of the Mayor has dampened the ardor of the coursing enthusiasts to continue the sport within the city limits. Moreover, if the dogs are run outside of the city, the accompanying snarl of the doggie in the night machine can be made once more to do duty in contributing its share to the general proceeds.

The official tape which always shrouds the majesty of the law in an atmosphere of uncertainty is very evident among the various interested officials at the Courthouse. There is a wide divergence of opinion among the different officers of the law as to the eventual outcome of the case, and pending the final settlement everyone wishes to shift the responsibility of action onto someone else. The attorneys for Black have not been slow to recognize this, and accordingly have secured a continuance of the case now before the courts until Monday. This continuance, they are confident, will enable them to run without opposition from the county authorities, whose house, if not "built upon the sands," is at least divided against itself. These races were to have been settled on last Tuesday, when Black promised that if allowed to finish his programme and conclude his sporting career in Los Angeles amid a flare of trumpets and a golden halo of glory, he would refrain from a further violation of the law. The whole thing, expected "solar" plexus delivered amidsips by the action of the Mayor, took almost all the wind out of Black's sails, and the grand finale did not occur.

On the Fourth of July, when Mayor Eaton put a stop to the coursing at Agricultural Park, there was no attempt made to sell pools, the nickel-in-the-slot machines were not in evidence and there was no liquor "sold" on the grounds, so far as known. The only legal ground for stopping the coursing was the decision rendered in Justice James's court that the sport was cruelty to animals. The law upon which this decision was based is a State law, and not a city ordinance, and consequently it is evident that there are just as good grounds for stopping this form of amusement outside of the city limits as within them. The result, whether for law and order, or in favor of the gamblers and touters, the rabbit-rack, depends largely upon the County Sheriff. Whether he will deem it his duty to be present at the coursing and to uphold the law by prohibiting it, at least until such time as the defendants in the present trial have established the validity of their appeal, or whether he will find it convenient and consistent with his duty as a public officer to ignore this matter and permit this travesty upon the law and the power of the courts to continue, is a question that Sheriff Hammet does not seem willing to answer directly.

He is quoted as saying that unless some disturbance occurred in connection with the coursing match he would not consider it unlawful nor prohibit it, unless ordered by the County Board of Supervisors or the courts. When asked: "Would you interfere with an attempt to run the coursing?" he replied: "If it was present and the law was being violated or was about to be violated, I should, of course, do my duty and check it." The Board of Supervisors allege that they have no jurisdiction in the matter, and this opinion is assented to by the District Attorney, so the Sheriff cannot expect to get his orders from that quarter. Chairman Burns of the Board was questioned regarding the matter.

"Would it, in your opinion, be the duty of the Sheriff to stop the coursing if it was present and the law was being violated?" he replied: "Yes, I should think so, if he were satisfied that the same conditions prevailed as those upon which the decision of Justice James was based. The conviction was under a State law."

"If a deputation of citizens should petition you to stop the match, would you so instruct the Sheriff?" he replied: "No. The matter lies wholly with the Sheriff."

Dist-Atty. J. C. Rives also gave it as his opinion that coursing could be a violation of the law. He gave the following replies to questions: "Would coursing, if started in this county, be a violation of the law?" "Yes, I believe it would."

"Is the mangling of the rabbit essential to an infringement of the law, or is the mere act of chasing the rabbits to the death of the rabbit under the decision of Justice James?" "I believe the decision of Justice James to be based on the intention or necessity of mangle the rabbit and not upon the manner in which it is done."

"Does not that decision stand then as the law in the case of defendants who have succeeded in establishing the validity of the appeal?" "Yes. But the ruling does not operate as an injunction against the coursing can continue, the promoters being meanwhile liable to renewed prosecution."

"Is it not the duty of the Sheriff to be present and to stop the coursing?" "If he were present and should see the law violated he would be justified in making arrests without warrant, but the question of his being present lies entirely at his discretion."

Such are the opinions held by prominent and well-known officials at the Courthouse, and the matter evidently up to the Sheriff. That official could not be found in his office yesterday afternoon, as he had left the pleasure of official life at the Courthouse at 2 o'clock for the more seductive sycophants and the sad, sad waves of Santa Monica-by-the-sea.

The Favorites of Burns.

[San Francisco Chronicle:] Since Dan Burns began to pay his political debts at the expense of the taxpayers of this State the public has been looking for a conclusive object lesson in the kind of Federal civil service California would have to endure if Burns were to obtain the appointive influence of a Senator. Wherever a coveted vacancy on the State pay roll has occurred since the adjournment of the Legislature Burns has not failed to make his name one of his lackeys, but with one whose name is peculiarly odious to right-thinking men. A politician of no redeeming traits who has secured his ticket last fall was made secretary of the Board of Health. Another, whom the people of Alameda county deprived of 800 party votes in the last election, has also been grafted upon the State treasury by the influence of the Candelarian. The offices of Registrar of Elections and of Auditor of the State have been handed out to hungry heelers who, under any honest system of civil service reform, would have had no chance to get anything so paltry as janitorships. To sum up, the whole influence of Burns has gone to cumber the offices with men of the worst political aims and antecedents and reputations of some of these lumps of coal would make a white mark.

But they are types of the men who get and will stay. They are the favorites of Burns who have power to bestow. The Mexican boss does not associate with honest politicians nor approve of them. Nor does he approve of

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Stockton is still, notably if not nobly, in the lead on three-cornered, cock-eyed patriotism. When the Simon-pure Stockton article had ended its cork-screw course of decoration on the homes, streets and town itself, some "ammosin" cusses" actually decorated the County Jail with flags and bunting galore. Why they overlooked the morgue is not stated.

When the Redlands delegation arrives and passes up Spring street, executing the Royal Goose side-step, it should be borne in mind that the cause is oil on the Redlands streets. Banana and orange peel contain a potentiality that yields a jolt of their own, but when a man slides sixteen feet and "busts" three suspicious buttons before he falls, you may know the street has been oiled.

W. C. Hargrave of Redlands is not a calamity howler. His apple trees bore 412 pounds of fruit to the tree, and netted him $463.50 per acre for this year's fruit. Among so much that is free-provoking to honest, earnest friends of Southern California, in the way of exorbitant praise or blame, this comes as a refreshing fact, which the intending homeseeker should probe for his own good. What Hargrave has achieved, in a dry year, too, others can achieve.

Public Economy is the name of a new monthly journalistic venture by A. E. Hotchkiss of this city, and is devoted "to a discussion of the best methods of keeping down public taxes and assessments, State, county, municipal and national." It advocates government storage reservoirs, and condemns as arbitrary and vicious the "Vrooman law" on the opening and construction of streets. It is replete with matter pertinent to the foregoing purposes, and is well written and neatly printed.

A singular accident happened to a lady passenger on a sleeper, en route to Pasadena. An open window admitted a live spark from the engine, setting fire to the sleeper's clothing and causing much commotion. An awful scene of fear creeps up the spine—and down it, too—when one thinks of the dreadful possibilities in the case of the male wing of the Kentucky delegation. A live spark and a healthy Kentucky breath would create an explosion such as would disintegrate all out-of-doors, and tear huge, jagged holes in the welkin.

The Santa Barbara Independent begins a double-headed editorial in the following lachrymose strain: "The old glorious Fourth of July was only indicated yesterday with side issues, the main of which was—with permission of the Mayor—the detonation of firecrackers and bombs by big and little boys. No jubilee procession, no public demonstration; in fact, a Fourth of July nowhere else, but none for Santa Barbara." With clam chowder, theology, thimble-rig and Delsarte all at a discount, her cup of humiliation is almost full. Misery loves company, however, and excursion routes are now on to Pasadena.

Lurini's Lurid Language.

Emile Lurini let his angry passions rise yesterday at the Hotel d'Europe and indulged in such lurid and forcible language that J. Surbaugh, proprietor of the hotel, was constrained to turn him over to the minions of the law. The services of Special Officer Mugnemi were secured for the purpose, and Lurini was marched to the Police Station, where he was required to put up $500 bail for his appearance in court. When arraigned before Justice Morgan, Lurini pleaded not guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace. His trial was set for 1:30 o'clock today.

ESPEE'S NEW TACTICS.

FERRY PROPOSITION THAT WOULD PLEASE IT IMMENSELY.

Muir's Return From His Vacation Followed by an Interesting and Remarkable Train of Events. Would Not Benefit the Public.

The Southern Pacific has changed its tactics on the San Pedro Harbor ferry fight and has extended its firing line a much wider front. The change of front is credited to John A. Muir, the division superintendent, who has returned from his vacation.

From Southern Pacific sources is coming a proposition to grant to M. Duffy, who is at present running a passenger ferry between San Pedro and East San Pedro, a special ferry privilege for that route for a period of something under two years. In the recent hearing before the Board of Supervisors, such a proposition was never mentioned and John A. Muir, who was away on his vacation, did not appear at any time at the hearing. Muir, having returned, held an early visit to the Supervisors Thursday morning. What was the nature of his conference with them may be guessed at, but yesterday Supervisors Field and Davis and Deputy District Attorney Wilbur made a visit at the harbor town. Duffy, the ferryman, received a liberal share of their attention, and since then various county officials have been asking why it wouldn't be a good thing to settle the dispute on the ferry matter by giving Duffy a special ferry privilege.

The proposed special privilege is, in other words, a temporary franchise. The harbor territory in question being in Supervisor Davis's district, his fellow members will probably look to him to express his wishes in the matter, so that they, if they so desire, may vote likewise, thereby following the custom of courtesy between members of such legislative bodies.

The matter being of importance to the Terminal Railway, the passengers of which are transported across the bay of San Pedro by Duffy, the views of T. E. Gibbon, vice-president and attorney of that company, were sought last evening. "The principal objection," said Mr. Gibbon, "is that the proposed privilege would settle nothing for the benefit of the public. The Terminal is interested in securing the freest communication between all portions of San Pedro Harbor to which the public has access, knowing that that would be of great benefit to the harbor and result in its greater development in the future. To that end the Terminal has offered to give free a ferry landing at East San Pedro and one opposite its station on Terminal Island, both on the side of the bay constructed by the Terminal, if the Southern Pacific will give two landings on its side which the city is endeavoring to condemn, and one at Wilmington. If the public owned these four landings, it would admit of the establishment of four lines of ferries, to-wit: Between San Pedro and East San Pedro, East San Pedro and Wilmington, San Pedro and Terminal Island and Terminal Island and Wilmington, thus providing the fullest possible communication by water between all points on the bay of San Pedro to which the public have access, or between which points in the future communication would be likely to be important. This would be ferries in the fullest sense of the term, which would admit of the transportation of vehicles as well as animals.

"The proposition to give a special ferry privilege to Duffy, as Mr. Muir suggests as a compromise, would result in defeating what appears to be the only opportunity for the public to get something out of the proposition and for the public to get a royalty out of the ferry.

"In the second place the ferry privilege could not be used by Duffy unless the Southern Pacific would consent to his running under their wharf, and that consent would be subject to such restrictions as the Southern Pacific might see fit to impose, among which would no doubt be a restriction against handling freight, as exists at the present time.

"In the third place, such a ferry would necessarily be confined to transporting passengers in small boats and the public would be deprived of the privilege of transporting vehicles and animals, as it is at present.

"The worst of it is that by accepting the compromise offered by Mr. Muir, the Supervisors would deliberately refuse to take advantage of an opportunity to secure for the county property worth many thousands of dollars, the use of which may be made to produce a large annual revenue for the county in the future and a great convenience to the public in insuring the freest communication between all important points around the harbor.

CORONER'S TROUBLES.

EVIDENCE TAKEN IN THE BODY-SNATCHING CASE.

Justice Morgan Refuses to Decide Offhand Whether Breese and Shafer Obstructed a Public Official in the Discharge of His Duty.

A week hence Justice Morgan will decide whether Ernest H. Breese and E. M. Shafer obstructed the coroner in the discharge of his duty by taking charge of the body of Mrs. Earl Hanchette, who was murdered by her husband in the Columbia lodging-house, on the morning of June 1. Incidentally the decision will touch on the prerogative of the coroner to pay his political debts by bartering in the corpses of victims of violent deaths.

At the trial of Breese and Shafer yesterday evidence was introduced to show that following closely on the death of Mrs. Hanchette, the closest friend of the dead woman requested Breese Bros. to take charge of the body and prepare it for burial. They immediately sent their dog to the house to remove the remains. In the meantime the coroner, who had been notified of the tragedy, ordered C. D. Howry to remove the remains to Howry's undertaking rooms, where the coroner intended that the inquest should be held. But Howry's wagon arrived too late to get the body, as Breese Bros. had got there first and taken charge of the remains. When coroner Holland heard of this he was wroth, for the Breeses had antagonized him in his election, and he had resolved that they should have none of the patronage of the office. The coroner, accordingly, made a verbal demand for the return of the body to the spot where it had been found. This demand went unheeded; then the coroner served a written order on the Breeses for the custody of the body, but this also was ignored.

The Breeses were strengthened in their position by written authority from the only living relative of young Hanchette in this city, to retain the body, and also to the charge of the remains of Hanchette in case of his death from his self-inflicted wound. Failing to induce the Breeses to surrender the body, the coroner impaneled a jury at Howry's place, marched them to Breese's, where they viewed the body, then returned to Howry's and held the inquest. The defense yesterday introduced testimony to show that every facility was afforded the coroner to hold the inquest at Breese's, and that no obstacle was placed in his way whatever, the coroner's only excuse for not holding the inquest there being political enmity for the firm who took charge of the body without his permission.

Coroner Holland, on cross-examination, admitted that he was not on friendly terms with the Breeses, but defended his course in demanding that they should surrender the body, on the ground that no one had a right to remove a body that came under the coroner's jurisdiction, without his explicit orders. He testified that he was busy with another case at the time the Hanchette tragedy was reported to him, and did not have time to view the remains when they were found, immediately, so he deputized his friend Howry to take charge.

The coroner did not charge that he was obstructed in the holding of an inquest over the remains of the husband of the murdered woman, who died a few days later as the result of his self-inflicted wound. This body was also taken charge of by the Breeses, at whose place the inquest was held.

There was no conflict of testimony at yesterday's trial, as to the principal facts of the case. The question for the court to decide was whether the Breeses were not technically guilty of a misdemeanor in having removed the body of Mrs. Hanchette without his consent, before he or any representative of his had viewed the remains.

The court took this question under advisement until July 15, after hearing the points involved argued by the counsel engaged in the case. James Burdette assisted Deputy District Attorney Chambers in the prosecution. Henry E. Murray, who had a Watrous conducted the defense.

An attempt was made by the defense to show the slipshod methods of the coroner in holding inquests in some cases, by introducing evidence in regard to the scandal occasioned by the alleged suicide of Miss Dearborn in the County Hospital, and the coroner's connivance in suppressing facts in regard to the tragedy and hurrying the dead girl into a pauper's grave before her friends had an opportunity to learn that she was dead. The court, however, ruled out all testimony except that bearing directly on the Hanchette case.

THROWN FROM HIS WAGON.

Old Scissors-grinder Killed in East Los Angeles.

Michael McGrath, an old scissors-grinder, was almost instantly killed yesterday by being thrown from his wagon during a runaway. The accident happened in East Los Angeles, near the farther end of Downey avenue. The only witnesses were the conductor and motorman of a Downey avenue electric car. They do not know what caused the runaway, as it was already in progress when their attention was attracted. They saw the man fall out of the wagon. He lay heavily on his head and shoulders, and died soon afterward, the result of his injuries. Police Officer Lennon arrived on the scene just before the victim breathed his last.

The body was removed to Paul's undertaking rooms on the East Side, where an inquest will be held today. McGrath lived at No. 123 1/2 Wilmington street. He was about 70 years old, and had no relatives in this country, but it said to have had two sons and a brother in Australia.

GONE TO MEXICO.

Railway Concession Granted to Los Angeles Men.

Herbert R. Yerxa and Edward F. Wehrle left yesterday morning for Motecongo, Vera Cruz, Mex., where they expect to remain two years.

J. M. Neeland, George Nolan, Jr., and H. R. Yerxa have just procured a liberal concession from the Mexican government for building a railway from Cordoba, in the State of Vera Cruz, to the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. The railway will connect at Cordoba with the Vera Cruz Railway, and will traverse one of the richest and most fertile portions of Mexico.

The railroad will be completed within the next two years, and the concession is considered as a most liberal one, as the Mexican government puts up a large portion of the money to build the road.

Mr. Wehrle goes with the company as financial secretary, and Mr. Neeland and Mr. Nolan will leave next Monday with the supplies.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

Officer Pat Murray Captures an Aged Burglar.

Officer P. H. Murray captured a burglar yesterday, who in age and appearance seems to be a fit companion for Harry Gardiner ("Old Mystery"), and Michael O'Brien, the venerable key-nipper artist, who fell into the clutches of the officers here recently. Murray's prisoner calls himself George Moore. Like Gardiner and O'Brien, he is an ex-convict, having served two terms of two years each in San Quentin. He came here recently from the State Veterans' Home at Yountville, of which he was an inmate.

Officer Murray yesterday morning noticed Moore prowling around the lodging-houses on Hill street and Broadway. He inspected the Brunswick, Norwood and Louise, and eventually entered a lodging-house kept by David Cahill at No. 219 West Fifth street.

The officer suspected that the old man was bent on mischief and therefore followed him. As Murray reached the foot of the stairs, he heard Mrs. Cahill calling for help. The officer rushed upstairs and found Moore in Mrs. Cahill's bedroom, where he had abstracted a purse containing $1.35 from the dresser.

Mrs. Cahill said the old man had applied to her husband for a room. Being informed that there were none to let, he made his way to the kitchen and asked Mrs. Cahill about a man named Meyers, who he pretended he understood to be rooming there. Being informed that he was mistaken, he closed the door and started toward the stairway as if about to take his departure, but instead of doing so he darted into Mrs. Cahill's bedroom and ransacked her dresser. Mrs. Cahill, having her suspicions aroused, left the kitchen to see what he had gone down stairs, and surprised him in the act of appropriating her purse.

"Don't make any alarm. Here's your purse. I haven't taken a cent, so there's no harm done," pleaded the old man when he saw he was discovered. But the woman did give the alarm, and Officer Murray soon had the fellow in custody.

BANKRUPTCY LITIGATION.

Kincaid Accused of Favoring His Wife in Paying Debts.

Some days ago a petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States District Court by F. J. Kincaid of Riverside, and F. G. Hall was appointed trustee by the court. Now Hall brings suit against the wife of Kincaid and the Riverside Savings Bank and Trust Company, alleging that but a short time before Kincaid filed his petition in bankruptcy, he transferred to his wife certain property in Riverside valued at $4000, and on this the defendant bank made a loan of $1850.

Annexed Schools. The City and County Superintendents of Schools have been in conference the past few days regarding the transfer of the funds of the University and Garvanza school districts, recently taken into the city, to the city school fund. It was agreed that the best plan is for the funds to be transferred to the city as they stood at the first of June, leaving it for the city to meet the liabilities. This will give the city the benefit of the school attendance in those districts during June, when the apportionment of funds is made. This work will be completed at the meeting of the board next Monday evening; after which all persons having claims against the funds will receive their pay.

It is alleged that this act was done to give the wife and the First National Bank of Riverside an advantage over other creditors, whose claims aggregated over $2500. The wife had held two notes against her husband, according to the complaint, for $1600, and this transfer of property was made to her in settlement of the claims. It is alleged that both the banks mentioned and the wife knew that Kincaid was in financial trouble, at the time the transfer was made. The trustee of the creditors asks judgment for $4000 and costs of suit.
